

Designing for sustainable mobility

Copyright

All rights reserved. The copyright of all materials, images and photographs used on our website and contained within our drawings, reports and any other materials produced by us are ours unless explicitly stated otherwise.

We do not give consent for any content contained on our website, any City Infinity documents or any other materials to be used for the development or training of artificial intelligence or machine learning algorithms.

Disclaimer

Any documents prepared on behalf of, and for the use by any commissioning client are in accordance with the agreement between them and City Infinity and are not intended for use by third parties unless explicitly stated otherwise.

Any guidance documents, blog posts, social media posts or information provided in any format within public forums by us are intended to be for guidance purposes only and any recommendations given or implied should always be received by the reader 'in light of the facts' of their specialist circumstances, and specialist advice obtained or engaged as necessary. No liability for negligence or otherwise will be accepted by City Infinity.

City Infinity accepts no liability or responsibility for the use of, or reliance upon any documents or other materials produced by us by any third party.

August 2026